Articles are selected for credit designation based on an assessment of the educational needs of CME participants, with the purpose of providing readers with a curriculum of CME articles on a variety of topics throughout each volume. Activities are planned using a process that links identified needs with desired results.

To obtain credit, read the material and complete the Posttest and Registration Form on pages 878–879 or go to PSYCHIATRIST.COM and complete the Posttest and Evaluation online.

CME Objectives

After studying the articles by Jones et al and Timpano et al, you should be able to:

- Recognize risk factors for alcohol use disorder (AUD) among patients with schizophrenia and provide preventive measures to patients at risk
- Identify patients who have core symptoms, specifiers, and associated features of the proposed hoarding disorder

Accreditation Statement

The CME Institute of Physicians Postgraduate Press, Inc., is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation

The CME Institute of Physicians Postgraduate Press, Inc., designates this journal-based CME activity for a maximum of 2.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Date of Original Release/Review

This educational activity is eligible for AMA PRA Category 1 Credit through June 30, 2014. The latest review of this material was May 2011.

Financial Disclosure

All individuals in a position to influence the content of this activity were asked to complete a statement regarding all relevant personal financial relationships between themselves or their spouse/partner and any commercial interest. The CME Institute has resolved any conflicts of interest that were identified. In the past year, Alan J. Gelenberg, MD, Editor in Chief, has been a consultant for Axis Healthcare, Dey Pharma, PGxHealth, Myriad Genetics, and Zynx Health; and has been a stock shareholder of Healthcare Technology Systems. No member of the CME Institute staff reported any relevant personal financial relationships. Faculty financial disclosure appears with each article.
