

Circle of Honor

Once each year we acknowledge and thank the growing cadre of colleagues around the world who review manuscripts for The Journal of Clinical Psychiatry. As the number of papers submitted to JCP climbs steadily, the work of these altruistic scholars becomes more intensive and more vital.

At the end of 2006, we plan to pay special homage to those reviewers who have carried the heaviest load and reviewed the greatest number of manuscripts in the calendar year. It is our attempt to create a singular circle of honor and give a token of special gratitude to colleagues who help make JCP the clinical psychiatrist's most valued informational source.
